NO MOB FEAR NOW

Archibald Sweet May Go to Grant County for Trial.

Says He Would Rather Die by Mob Than Go to Pen.

HE HAS TAKEN UP RELIGION Declares He Is Innocent and Will Face Anything.

Gives First Newspaper Interview to State Journal.

(State Journal Staff Correspondent.)

Dodge City, Kan., Nov. 18.—Archibald Sweet, held in the Ford county jail for the murder of Nellie Byers, is willing to go back to Grant county for trial. He has no fear of mob violence. In fact Sweet today told H. R. Stubbs, county attorney of Grant county, that he would rather be hung or killed by a mob than go back to the state penitentiary for even one year. He has served four terms in the state penitentiary and reformatory for varied crimes.

For two weeks Sweet has been held in solitary confinement. He has not talked to a person in that time. Three times each day a deputy sheriff hustled Sweet toward the cell with the iron grating, turned and walked away. Often Sweet dropped a remark and displayed a desire to talk. But no one spoke to him. No one was permitted to visit the man's cell. The state was giving Sweet absent treatment in the hope that the confinement would force a confession from his lips. But today Sweet is just as positive in his declaration of innocence as when he was arrested.

Sweet Takes Religion. Since his arrest, Sweet has professed religion.

"I am ready to meet anything and ready to face any punishment. I have no fear," was the statement of the man as he talked in broken sentences. Sweet seemed to weigh every word and talked little. He was a poor subject in the sweat box and when under cross-fire of questions, leaned back against the iron grating of his cell and looked sullenly at his visitors. For nearly three weeks Sweet has not been shaved. Not since the night he was confined in the Ford county jail has he seen a newspaper. But when the danger of a mob was mentioned to him, Sweet failed to display fear.

"If they are going to punish me for this, I would just as soon they would hang me or kill me as send me to the penitentiary," he said.

He Feels Penitentiary.

"Why if I had a million dollars," he declared, "I would give every cent of it rather than go to the penitentiary. I would rather be killed than go there one year."

Sweet will not plead guilty, he says. "I won't plead guilty because I didn't do this," he said. It is probable that Sweet's preliminary hearing will be held late next week. County Attorney Stubbs stated today that he believed Sweet might even be tried in Grant county. There is now but little danger of mob violence, he believes. Still Stubbs will welcome the assistance of S. M. Brewster, attorney general, in the trial of the case and will not object to a special guard for Sweet during the trial. In Topeka recently, Stubbs stated that he would never try Sweet without protection of state troops.

As yet Sweet has not asked for counsel. He has no money and has never indicated that he would like to see a lawyer. Unless he retains counsel, the court will appoint an attorney to defend him of the charge of murdering the Grant county school teacher.

Can't Get Him in Corner.

Efforts to tighten the web of circumstances around the prisoner have failed. There is no direct testimony connecting the man with the assault and murder of the young woman. Sweet admits that he saw Miss Byers as she was leaving the school house on her way to the Edison home where she boarded. He admits that footprints near the site of the killing are his, but asserts that they were made before the crime and while he was hunting.

Persons interested in the prosecution of the case urge that the crime was committed by one person other than Miss Byers' habits. They also point out that the scene of the murder was apparently carefully planned. So far as is known no person other than Sweet saw the teacher after she left the school house. But there is no direct evidence.

Unless Sweet should ask for a change of venue, the state must try the case in Grant county. Even in view of the agitators in the sparsely settled county, Stubbs believes the jury can be secured. A trial, however, will be delayed by the state as long as possible in the hope that Sweet may enter a plea of guilty. He pleaded guilty to other crimes for which he served prison sentences.

NEW PARK AT SMITH CENTER.

Topeka Banker Donated Four Acres to Old Home Town.

Smith Center, Kan., Nov. 18.—Work has begun on a four-acre park at Smith Center which recently was donated to the city by J. R. Burrow, of Topeka, formerly of this city. Mr. Burrow gave the ground for the park on account of the work of the Woman's Civic league, whose members had been striving untiringly to beautify the town. The ground has been broken to prepare for the planting in the spring, when a landscape gardener will superintend the planting of trees and shrubs. The work will be directed by a committee of three—one from the council, one from the league and a citizen appointed by the mayor.

GIVE LECTURE FRIDAY.

Professor Monroe of Emporia on School Teaching Standards.

Emporia, Kan., Nov. 18.—The educational lecture to be given Friday in Sabetha by Prof. W. S. Monroe, Ph. D., of the State Normal school at Emporia, will be devoted to the question of measurements and standards of school teaching. Doctor Monroe has recently found in an investigation that Sabetha stands somewhat above the average in education. The exact figures will be given in his lecture. Doctor Monroe is head of the bureau of educational measurements and standards at the State Normal school. The purpose of this bureau is to standardize at the schools of Kansas so the grading in one town will mean the same as the grading in another. The work has attracted much attention in Kansas as well as in other states. Orders for many thousand tests have been received from Iowa, Maine, Washington and other states. Doctor Monroe is a Missourian by birth, but has taught in Kansas for many years. His course in methods at the State Normal school is famed as the hardest course in the state. He has recently received his Ph. D. from Chicago.

PAY BIG STORM DAMAGE.

Insurance Companies Prepare to Settle With Policy Holders.

McPherson, Kan., Nov. 18.—The recent storms are beginning to be booked in the offices of the insurance companies. The Farmers' Alliance insurance company covers every part of the state and will help to make good the damage done by the storm on Wednesday evening.

The aggregate loss as estimated so far amounts to $30,000, but these losses are reported principally from property in towns or contiguous to towns and the chances are that the property in the country that was damaged has not yet been reported.

YELLOW PROPER COLOR

Dr. Smith Says Newspapers Should Follow Conversation Lines.

Emporia, Kan., Nov. 18.—Yellow in the newspaper business, from chrome orange to fade away cream, was advocated today by Dr. W. R. Smith, professor of sociology and economics at the Kansas Normal at Emporia, in an address on "Newspaper Values" before nine hundred students. Yellow, according to Doctor Smith, is the prevailing color of modern conversation and is rightly reflected in the newspaper.

"Yellow is the color of the average man's life," said Doctor Smith. "We think and talk in terms of exaggerations and yellowness. In comparison with an ordinary conversation, the average news report is a sober Quaker dressed in grey and dun garments. I believe that the newspaper's duty is not only to report facts, but to wrap around them the atmosphere and connotations which those facts have in real life. This is what many people call yellow, but it is really truth."

Yellow, in Dr. Smith's belief, will be the line of progress for the future literary development of the newspaper. "It is a mistake," he says, "to think that the memory will be injured by reading the newspaper. Does conversation injure the memory? The newspaper is world-wide conversation. If you condemn the newspaper, you are condemning your own fellow citizens who are building society."

Useless Objects Should Be Eliminated From Household Furnishings.

Manhattan, Kan., Nov. 18.—Ornament has no place in good design and an object that is not useful should not be given a place among household furnishings, Miss Araminta Holman, instructor in home decoration, told her class in color and design at the Kansas State Agricultural college.

"No decoration should interfere with use," she said. "The object is of greater importance than the decoration."

"What are your ideas of the best form of government?" Oh, replied the restless agitator; "it isn't a question of what kind of government we're after. It's the one that's the one at present in operation."—Washington Star.

REBUILD AFTER STORM

Better School and Mill Than Before Tornado at Great Bend.

Great Bend, Kan., Nov. 18.—The school board Wednesday announced the purchase of a block of ground in a more favorable location than the one where the building destroyed by the tornado of November 10 stood and work will start at once on a modern eight-room ward school building. Another block is held under option and probably will be used as an athletic field. The Walnut Creek mills also announced their plans for a structure of reinforced concrete and will start at once on a mill of "daylight" construction. Of the many injured in the storm, three women, Mrs. Bowles, Mrs. J. O. Hale and Mrs. L. E. Davis still are in a serious condition. All the other injured are recovering rapidly it is said.

GOOD SCHOLAR WILL SUCCEED.

High Rank in College Indication of Business Success.

Manhattan, Kan., Nov. 18.—The man who makes good in his high school and college studies is the man who succeeds after graduation, according to Dr. William Trufant Foster, president of Reed college, Portland, Oregon, who addressed the faculty of the Kansas State Agricultural college.

Doctor Foster presented statistics based on thousands of cases, showing that there was a direct relation between the grades obtained in high school, those obtained in college, and the student's success in later life. "Our business men have learned," said Doctor Foster, "that it is not the football hero, nor yet the popular man, but the good student who makes the most satisfactory and successful employee, and consequently the first thing they want to know of an applicant is his college standing."
